The Identity of Masks

La-Shei D. Russell
Learning Community 09 English 101 and Art 111, Professors Patricia Licklider and frank Gimpaya

Thesis

Masks are gateways to alternate personalities and those who wear them are able to disguise themselves and personify the mood, thoughts, qualities, and personality of each character they incorporate while wearing the masks.

About the Mask

Masks have been designed and worn in innumerable varieties and for various purposes, i.e. disguises, entertainment, protection, ceremonies, and performance art.

What are its uses?

Masks are used to:
• Transform
• Disguise
• Hide
• Express
• Entertain
• Classify Hierarchy

Where are they used?

• America
• Greece
• Italy
• Africa
• India
• Asia
• Europe
• Egypt

Conclusion

Across the world there are innumerable assorted types of masks. Masks are captured expressions of feelings, whether they be political, religious, or personal. Masks give the occupant a complete new sense of space, presence and dramatic expression. They embody stories that entertain us, feelings that express us, thoughts that speak for us, along with so much more.